ALAMEDA ARRIVES.

Once More Word Comes From the Sandwich Islands.

NOTHING NEW HAS OCCURRED.

Affairs There Are Just About the Same as When the Steamship Australia Left a Week Ago—The Officials at Washington Have Received a Cipher Dispatch, but Its Contents Are Not Made Public.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—The steamship Alameda, from Sydney and Auckland via Honolulu, arrived in port yesterday, bringing news that nothing of special importance had transpired at the Hawaiian islands since the Australia left there nearly a week before. The arrival of the Alameda had been anxiously awaited and preparations had been made to secure promptly any news which she might bring.

The copyright letter of the Associated Press was received at 8 o'clock and placed on the Western Union wires at once for transmission east. It was an hour or two later before any passengers on the steamer could be seen in order to obtain from them personal accounts of affairs at Honolulu. Besides the Associated Press letter, the steamer also brought copies of an extra edition of the Honolulu Commercial Advertiser, published just before the steamer left Honolulu, which contained a dispatch dated Washington, Nov. 2, and received in Honolulu by way of Auckland, N. Z., stating that President Cleveland was preparing a message to congress in favor of the restoration of the monarchy in Hawaii.

Interviews with prominent persons of Honolulu indicate that there was a general disbelief in the correctness of the dispatch, but it was also noticeable that according to the majority of statements it was evident that such a policy on the part of the United States could not be carried out without protest, if not resistance, from the provisional government.

The Alameda brought only 10 cabin passengers from Honolulu, and there were no prominent persons among them. The majority were ladies returning from pleasure trips.

The Hawaiian newspapers have very little editorial comment on the political situation on the islands. The royalist paper, The Bulletin, in commenting on the recent events, says: "There is one thing as clear as the sun in the present situation. The United States distinctly repudiates the pretended right of the provisional government of the Hawaiian Islands to offer this country to the United States."

To this the Hawaiian Star replies as follows: "The United States have made no reply whatever as yet to the annexation proposal. Should they do so in a negative way it could not be because they had questioned the authority of a government the valid status of which they had repeatedly and fully recognized. It would simply be because they did not want the islands."

SITUATION AT HAWAII.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—It has been largely a day of speculation at the Capitol regarding the situation at Hawaii. It was definitely stated long before the arrival of the Alameda, that the administration did not expect to learn on that steamer that Minister Willis had taken any action.

It was not expected either that any information would reach the islands concerning the intention of the administration. It seems, therefore, that the report which came by way of New Zealand that President Cleveland had determined to restore the queen was a surprise to the administration. The manner in which Minister Willis has been performing his mission only adds more mystery to the situation.

It is evident, however, that it was not his intention, or the intention of the administration to give any information to Hawaiians of the intention of the president until Willis was ready to act. There has been a theory which, at the state department, is said to be rather visionary, that it would be the policy of Mr. Willis to allow the tension to become so great that the supporters of the queen would organize and establish her as a government, and that before there could be a clash between the queen's supporters and the forces of the provisional government, but upon demonstrations being made, the marines from the Philadelphia could be landed for the purpose of protecting American life and property, and when the queen had accumulated sufficient strength to warrant it, he would recognize her.

This view is taken to be that a repetition of the action of Minister Stevens, as near as possible, is to be the course of Minister Willis. There is also speculation to the effect that Minister Willis will be anxious to act before the arrival of the steamer, which will give definite information concerning the action of the administration.

These theories and speculations are indulged in all the more because up to the present time it is denied at the state department that Minister Willis had made any communication to the department on the steamer Alameda. It is believed, however, that some official information was received, the nature of which it was not possible to receive.

Secretary Gresham received a cipher message late yesterday afternoon from Minister Willis, giving a complete report of the Hawaiian situation up to the time of the departure of the Alameda from Honolulu. The message was sent on the wire at San Francisco as soon as it arrived there and was delivered at the state department shortly after noon. Being in cipher, it required several hours to translate it, and then it was at once taken to President Cleveland, who read and discussed it with several members of the cabinet.

As to the exact contents of the message no one outside of the president and his cabinet knows. It is a closely guarded state secret and will be held until the president desires it to be made public. The fact that the message was received was given out, however, and it was also announced that its contents were highly satisfactory, not only to President Cleveland, to Secretary Gresham and the other members of the cabinet. Minister Willis, it is understood, has been carrying out his instructions to the letter, and the results up to the hour of departure of the Alameda were just what the administration had anticipated they would be.

This is interrupted by officials outside of the cabinet to mean that Minister Willis had completed all the arrangements for the restoration of Queen Liliuokalani to the Hawaiian throne.

It is also claimed by those who stand close to the administration that should Minister Willis continue to be as successful in carrying out his instructions as he had been up to the day the Alameda sailed, the vast majority of the American people will take sides with the president and sustain him in the course he has pursued when they become apprised of all the facts.

POWDERLY'S STRENGTH.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—Yesterday at a meeting of the general assembly, Knights of Labor, the relative position of the factions was changed and the vote for general worthy foreman is taken as indication of Powderly's strength. There were two candidates for the place, Michael J. Bishop of Massachusetts, recognized as the candidate of the Hayes' faction, and those opposed to the master workman and the present incumbent of the office, Hugh Cavanaugh of District Assembly 48 of Cincinnati. The election stood: Bishop 25, and Cavanaugh 21. The Hayes forces again carried their candidates to victory when the election of a general secretary and treasurer was ordered, the vote standing: Hayes, 25; Martin, 21.

One of the antiadministration delegates said after the morning session that if the election of the general master workman had gone over Powderly would have shared Cavanaugh's fate. In response to an intimation that many delegates believed Sovereign was not a candidate, and would not take the office, as he is a friend of Powderly's, a delegate said: "That is a mistake. Mr. Sovereign is loyal to the order, as all of us are, and he considers the good of the order above Powderly or any other man. The trouble is that some men, after holding office for a long time believe they have a mortgage upon it. The Knights of Labor do not depend upon Powderly for an existence and would go on just the same if he be dropped out of sight or died tomorrow. It is Powderly's methods that we are fighting more than the man himself, and he now has a fair warning to mend his ways or get out. He has been dictator and assumed to run things long enough."

"The result of the election was not the effect of a compromise then?" "No, indeed. It was a straight out fight for supremacy and we won, that is all there is about it."

Among other business transacted was an approval of the report of the committee on mileage, fixing the mileage of each delegate.

Several documents were received and referred by the committee on distribution to subcommittees. One was from local assembly No. 2,387, asking that a boycott be pushed. Another was a request for the pushing of a petition of Bellamy of Boston for the government control of railroads.

Another was in relation to the grievance against the Chicago steel works, and another in relation to the local beer boycott. The committee on law reported adversely to the amendment to the constitution proposed by the state assembly of Colorado, providing for a change in the laws, so that delegates to the general assembly be elected by a popular vote in the various jurisdictions instead of by districts and local assemblies, as at present. The report was concurred in after some debate.

A Long Fight Begun.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 24.—The flint glass workers' union has settled down to a long fight. The members of the organization declare that they have no hope of a settlement with the United States Glass company. They have no notion of making any overtures to President Bagaley, and say that they do not expect that the company will propose a settlement.

Almost Time.

CADIZ, Nov. 24.—The Spanish fortress at Rio de Ouro, on the west coast of Africa, the governor of which place has reported that the factory there is threatened with attack by 3,000 Moors, is only garrisoned by 35 infantry soldiers and the fort is only armed with one small gun. The minister of marine intends to send a second gunboat with reinforcements of men, arms, ammunition and provisions.

Another Dynamite Outrage.

MADRID, Nov. 24.—A pedrard was exploded outside the residence of the secretary of agricultural committee at Cajal, near Granada, last night. The house was badly damaged, but none of its occupants injured. Three anarchists have been arrested, charged with being the authors of the crime.

Scuttled and Sunk.

LOMPOC, Cal., Nov. 24.—The British ship Gosford, which has been on fire off Point Conception, was scuttled and sunk yesterday. All hands, 86 in number, were safely landed at Cojo light-house.

BIG FIRE IN DETROIT

Three Men Dead and Five Others Missing.

VERY HEAVY PROPERTY LOSS.

Valuable Dry Goods House Completely Destroyed and Several Adjacent Buildings Badly Damaged—The Loss Will Probably Reach One Half Million Dollars, but the Property Was Well Insured.

DETROIT, Nov. 24.—One of the worst fires that Detroit has experienced in many years completely destroyed the 5-story building at the corner of Jefferson avenue and Bates street, occupied by Edson, Moore & Company, wholesale dry goods, and damaged several adjacent buildings, causing a total loss of $700,000.

Three men employed by the dry goods firm lost their lives in the flames, and five others who are missing, are also supposed to have perished.

The dead are: James McKay, clerk, aged 38. Bradley A. Dunning, porter, aged 44. Ed Genter, entry clerk, single, aged 28.

The missing are: Edward N. Voit, order clerk. Patrick Markey, aged 32, leaves widow and three children.

So quick was the work of the flames that in half an hour the building was completely gutted, and practically only the firmly bolted iron front remained standing. For an hour the department fought with a fire which fairly defied their efforts.

The blaze was first seen on the fourth floor, and in the beginning it looked as though the fire would be kept in subjection, but the flames spread as quickly as though the building was a great wooden structure. At the time it was erected it was said to be fireproof, but the interior burned like tinder, and the heat from the fierce cauldron was felt over half a block away.

A general alarm was turned in which called out the entire fire department of the city. A strong wind blowing from the northwest sent the sparks and embers flying everywhere, and it was feared that other fires would break out. Luckily the flames were confined only to the dry goods building, which was consumed, and considerable damage was done to adjoining structures.

The saddest feature was not the destruction of property, however, but the loss of life. Long before the many engines responded to the general alarm, two men could be seen on the windowsills of the fifth story on the Bates street side of the building. A groan went up from the crowd, which in a moment realized the awful peril of the unfortunates and saw too plainly what little chance there was to render effectual assistance. So rapidly had the flames progressed that the men undoubtedly had not the time to get out of the building.

Caught like rats in a trap, with the flames roaring above and beneath them, and spreading every moment, with the smoke behind them increasing in suffocating volumes, the unfortunates were fairly driven to the windowsills. There they clung. The crowd shouted: "Don't jump, don't jump; there's help coming." But even as those below called out these words of useless encouragement the flames behind them advanced and burst out around them. A bale of jute was procured by the spectators and placed below the window on which Bradley Dunning was perched. Driven by the flames which roared around him he sprang from the window and landed on the bale. He bounded off and fell to the sidewalk, where he lay limp and apparently lifeless. An ambulance carried him to the hospital, where he died soon after.

By this time the firemen who had arrived spread a net to catch McKay, who fell into it. His injuries were such that he, too, died soon after being taken to the hospital. Hardly had this double tragedy transpired than another man was seen near the upper window nearest the corner. He was evidently nearly suffocated for, although he succeeded in reaching the sill, his strength gave out, and after an effort to raise himself, one arm having been thrown over the sill, he slowly sank back and disappeared from view, being swallowed up in the furnace behind him. He is thought to have been Edward Genter.

After the fire the firm established temporary headquarters and opened a register. All employees who reported signed the roll. By comparing notes it became evident that Genter, Rider, Viol, Markey, Baker and Kirchner were missing.

Next to the dead and missing the chief topic of discussion was the remarkable suddenness with which the fire broke out and swept through the building. Men on the second and third floor had barely time to escape and lost their overcoats. The fire ate down through five floors to the ground with inconceivable rapidity.

The elevator boy says that when the fire broke out he held the elevator for several moments at the top floor and begged the employees there to get in and go down, but they seemed so rattled that they paid no attention to him. He finally went down alone and left them to their fate.

It is thought that the flames started in a lot of cotton batting on the top floor used for packing.

James L. Edson, senior member of the firm, said the loss on stock would be about $500,000. It is well covered by insurance.

The burned buildings belonged to the estate of Francis Palms. It was erected 12 years ago at a cost of $100,000, when it was considered one of the finest business blocks in the city. The loss, which is total, was covered by $50,000 insurance in the following companies: Michigan Fire and Marine, $5,000; Detroit Fire and Marine, $5,000; Liverpool, London and Globe, $10,000; Lion of England, $10,000; Home of New York, $5,000; Royal, $5,000; Lancashire of England, $5,000; Commercial Union of England, $5,000. Other business places were damaged to the extent of $80,000.

John J. Bagley's tobacco works, which are situated immediately in the rear of the Palms building, suffered a loss of $25,000. It was mostly caused by water on the stock and working material. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

The Detroit lithographing company, which occupied a portion of the Bagley building, suffered a loss estimated at $30,000; amply insured.

SAMOAN ISLANDS.

The English Will Succeed the Germans in Supremacy There.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24.—If the news received here by the steamship Alameda be correct, it seems possible that there will be a change in the controlling interest in the Samoan islands within a short time, and that the English will succeed the Germans in supremacy there. The Samoan Herald states that a syndicate has been organized in Australia, with Sir Robert Stout at its head, whose intention it is to purchase plantations and other property of the Deutsche Handels und Plantagen Gesellschaft in Samoa.

This company is commonly known in Samoa as "the German firm." Its interests there are larger than those of any other company or individual on the islands, and it has exerted a powerful influence therein the last few years.

The Herald commenting upon the proposed withdrawal of this firm says: "If the firm should withdraw and its place be taken by an English or colonial company or syndicate, English interests and influence would so increase as to dwarf into utter insignificance all others, and there is little doubt that such acquisition would bring annexation within a measurable distance."

"It is only her material interest in Samoan property, which she actually owns in the country, which has caused Germany to take so large a share in Samoa's politics and history. To her the islands are of no strategic importance. The disposal of the property therefore means the practical extinguishment of German interest, and we have no doubt, that when these commercial interests disappear, as they would, on the property being acquired by an English company, official circles in Berlin would sigh a great sigh of relief at such a happy solution for Germany of the troublesome Samoan difficulty."

Information was received by the Alameda of another tragedy committed by the natives of the island of Pentecost in the New Hebrides group. The victims were George Lifon, copramaker of Ambrym, and two natives forming a portion of the crew of his vessel, a small cutter sailing under the American flag. Lifon visited Pentecost for the purpose of recruiting labor, and early one morning, accompanied by two natives, left his vessel in a small boat for the purpose of bringing off several native recruits.

Not returning at a late hour, those on board the American vessel became alarmed and on the second boat landing it was discovered that the natives had seized the first boat and massacred its occupants. The bodies of Lifon and one native were found near the beach horribly mutilated. No trace could be obtained of the body of the other native, and it is concluded that the savages had taken it to their village for a cannibalistic feast.

INDIANS ON THE WARPATH.

United States Troops Ordered to the Scene but May Be Too Late.

WOODWARD, O. T., Nov. 24.—Word has just reached here by courier that a company of United States troops has started from Fort Supply to head off a band of Indians who are making for Cheyenne, 45 miles west of here, to wreak vengeance on one, Tom O'Hara, for killing one of their tribe. The Indians are under a fierce Cheyenne chief and number 80 men. The sheriff of the county, who has O'Hara under his charge, has organized a posse of 25 heavily armed men, and is equally determined that no harm shall befall his prisoner.

As the Indians have a good start on the troops and are very ugly it is feared, however, many innocent whites may suffer before the troops can arrive. O'Hara is a Texas ranger, and while in search of cattle thieves, supposed to be hiding in Cheyenne county, got into a dispute with a band of Cheyennes, which resulted in his shooting and killing an Indian named Red Moon. O'Hara escaped to town and is now in jail.

Lived Only a Few Minutes.

CELINA, O., Nov. 24.—George Mihn, son of James Mihn of Grover Hill, north of here, met with a horrible accident which was the cause of his death. He was working in a planing mill and a piece of lumber got caught and in loosening it, it was thrown with violent force, the piece striking young Mihn in the breast, breaking the bone and entering his lungs. He lived but a short time and died in intense agony.

Planing Mills Burned.

ALENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 24.—The planing mill and lumberyard of James M. Ritter was totally destroyed by fire. Six tenement houses adjoining were also destroyed. The loss is estimated at $300,000.

Severe Snowstorms in Scotland.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Terrific snows prevail in the highlands of Scotland, and a number of railroad trains are imbedded in great drifts.

TARIFF LEGISLATION

An Outline of the New Proposed Measure

TO BE SUBMITTED TO CONGRESS.

No Startling Changes Are Proposed and Those Made Will Not Take Effect For Some Time in the Future—No Increase on Beer, Tobacco or Cigars, but a Slight One on Whisky.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says that he is able to send an accurate outline of the tariff bill as far as determined.

The free list will include nearly all raw and crude materials which enter into manufactures. Wools, hair of the camel and goat, bituminous coal, iron ore, lumber, salt, silver, lead ore, flax, hemp and jute, and a large number of chemicals will all be free of duty when the new bill takes effect.

This will be the chief benefit to manufacturers afforded by the new measure, but they will also get the benefit, in a number of cases, of an extension of time of from three to six months, to work off accumulated stock before the reduced duties on finished products take effect.

This will be true of woolen goods and probably of manufactures of linen. It is doubtful if any discrimination of this sort is made in regard to manufactures of iron, which will have to submit to some considerable cuts.

The specific duties on bottles, glassware and plateglass may possibly be retained, but they will be decidedly reduced, and plateglass is likely to be put at a uniform and ad valorem rate of 40 per cent.

Steel rails will probably be put at $8 or $9 a ton. Rails will be one of the few articles upon which a specific duty will be retained. Pig iron will probably be put at 5 per cent ad valorem, as proposed in the last congress, and bar iron will be reduced at least 50 per cent.

Tinplate will be charged 1 cent per pound, and increased imports are counted upon to make the revenue nearly as great as under the present duty of 2 1/2-10 cents. The specific duties on cutlery will be abolished and an ad valorem duty be substituted.

Block tin will go on the free list where it was before the enactment of the McKinley bill, and copper ore will follow it upon the same list.

A uniform ad valorem duty will be imposed upon finished manufactures of wood, but logs will be free.

The textile schedules will not suffer quite so much as china and metals, for there will be a few duties, if any, higher than 40 per cent ad valorem. Specific duties and compensatory duties will almost universally be wiped off the statute.

The committee believes that a reduction of 5 or 10 per cent in the silk duties will yield as much revenue as at present.

Woolen goods will follow substantially the rates of the Springer bill, but some of the cheaper goods, especially cloth, will be put in a separate class at 30 per cent.

The rate on nearly all manufactures of cotton will be 40 per cent. This will include hosiery.

Manufactures of flax, hemp and jute will be greatly reduced in view of the placing of the raw material on the free list.

Binding twine is likely to be made free of duty.

The high duties imposed on agricultural products will be mercilessly slashed.

A duty will be retained on lemons and oranges, but several other fruits will go upon the free list.

The duty on wrapper tobacco will be reduced to $1 or $1.50 per pound when unsteamed, and 50 cents more per pound when steamed.

An ad valorem rate of 25 per cent will probably be fixed on all grades of sugar, although this is one of the questions still open.

The duty on gloves will be reduced.

The internal revenue feature of the bill are substantially agreed upon, except the form of the income tax. There will be no increase on beer or tobacco or cigars. The only change will be on whisky.

The additions to the free list will cause considerable losses of revenue, and while reductions of duty are counted upon to produce increased imports, this effect may not appear for a year or two.

The proposed duty on sugar will bring in about $30,000,000, and it is thought that some $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 more will be increased from the increase in the whisky tax from the income tax.

Engulfed by an Avalanche.

PAIRS, Nov. 24.—A dispatch from Paris tells of a terrible accident near Oloron, in the Bases Pyrenees. On Tuesday morning a party of nine villagers, including the mayor and deputy mayor of the Alpine commune of Louvie-Loubiron, went in search of some strayed flocks. The party was absent the entire day. When returning, at 8 o'clock in the evening and passing beneath a steep mountain, they were engulfed by an avalanche, only one of the entire party escaping alive. The bodies of the victims of this Alpine disaster were recovered late yesterday evening.

WEATHER FORECAST.

The proposition to tax incomes will not be adopted if the wealthy classes can prevent it.

The weather prophets who have been predicting a mild winter will have to revise their forecasts. The temperature this morning was down to within ten degrees of zero.

The jobbers and jingoists are not expected to coincide with the administration's views of the Hawaiian question. But the President will not allow their ravings and rantings to deter him from doing what he considers a plain duty.

Dr. J. M. Logan made a dashing race for State Senator in the counties of Carter, Fleming, Bath and Menifee, and was beaten by a small majority. He carried the district as it was composed before the late gerrymander, when Menifee was attached.—Greenup Gazette.

And there's where you're "off," Brother Rardin. Smoot had a majority of forty-seven in the district outside of Menifee. As the Republicans carried the old district at the two preceding elections, it appears that Dr. Logan didn't make such a dashing race, after all.

The New York Herald thinks Commissioner Blount's report reveals the Hawaiian conspiracy in still blacker colors. Minister Stevens is placed in the position of simply a confederate of the revolutionists, using the authority of the United States to depose the Queen, establish the provisional government and turn over Hawaii to this country under the cloak of annexation. Against this outrage the Queen protested in behalf of the people of the islands, but the protest availed nothing. Mr. Blount's recital simply emphasizes it with the force of an official communication to the government. Rabid jingoists and annexationists will assail this official report as they assailed the Herald's dispatches, but the proofs massed by Mr. Blount are too overwhelming to be refuted or shaken.

Hear Vincent's Lecture To-night.

Way back in the fifties a celebrated English lecturer and novelist sailed for America at the request of the Mercantile Library Association, and delivered his first, of a series of lectures, in the late Dr. Chapin's Church in New York. He was accompanied by his Secretary, Mr. Eyre Crowe, who has recently published a very readable book entitled, "With Thackeray in America," in which he relates a number of pleasing and interesting incidents connected with that trip. Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and various Southern cities were visited. At the National Capital Thackeray was asked by some charitable ladies to deliver a lecture in aid of some pet scheme. He not only acceded cheerfully to the request, but paid them the compliment of writing an entirely new lecture for the purpose.

"He took a whole day for the task," says his Secretary, "dictating fluently the phrases as they came. I took them down with little or no intermission, till late in the dusk of the evening. I remember well his pleased expression at this tour de force—not usual with him—I don't know where it's all coming from!" Let all go to the High School to-night, to hear what Mr. Leon H. Vincent has to tell in his entertaining way about big-hearted, talented Thackeray.

Jury Commissioners.

In the Circuit Court Thursday Judge Harbeson appointed ex-Sheriff John W. Alexander, Mr. C. C. Coburn and Mr. R. P. Hopper commissioners to select grand and petit juries for ensuing year. Under the new law on this subject, the commissioners select the names of 750 citizens, and from this list the juries for the following twelve months are taken. The names are written on slips of paper and are then deposited in the drum provided by the State authorities for that purpose. From this drum the Judge at each term draws the required number of jurors for the ensuing term.

STILL WRANGLING.

Big State Officials at Frankfort Haven't Kissed and Made Up.

Frosty Letters Pass Between His Excellency and Attorney General Jack Hendrick.

The following letters between the Governor and Attorney General on the subject of the railroad deal between the L. and N. and C. O. and S. W. are self-explanatory and also somewhat sarcastic in tone. Here is the Governor's:

Hon. W. J. Hendrick, Attorney General—Dear Sir: Will you please advise me if you believe the Franklin Circuit Court has special jurisdiction to try a suit of injunction against the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company to prevent the proposed consolidation of their road with the C. and O. and Newport News and Mississippi Valley railroads.

If you answer in the affirmative, have you, as Attorney General, authority to employ assistant counsel in such litigation, if you should therein institute suit?

I do not believe the Franklin Circuit Court has special jurisdiction; and if it should have, I do not believe you have authority to employ assistant counsel therein.

Again, if in your judgment the court named has not the special jurisdiction, and the proceedings should be instituted in another circuit of the Commonwealth; is the Commonwealth's Attorney for the court to prosecute the suit, with such assistance as the Governor might employ, if their employment should be deemed necessary by him?

My opinion is that it is the duty of a Commonwealth's Attorney to bring suit and only the Governor in such case could name his assistant. The case referred to involves a question of supreme importance to the citizens of Kentucky, and all preliminary steps should be most assuredly carefully considered. I shall thank you for as early response as may be convenient. Very respectfully,
JOHN YOUNG BROWN.

The Attorney General's response is as follows:

His Excellency, the Hon. John Young Brown, Governor of Kentucky—Dear Sir: Responding to your communication of the 21st instant, delivered at a late hour yesterday evening, I desire to state that your request for advice is coupled with such positive and confident expressions of your own opinion touching the jurisdiction of the Franklin Circuit Court and my authority to employ counsel in the proposed litigation against the L. and N. railroad company as to preclude any effort on my part, thus handicapped, to establish the one or exercise the other. Without, therefore, expressing any opinion upon the points indicated, if the proceedings in this case are to be instituted in another Circuit Court of the Commonwealth it is my opinion that it is the duty of the Commonwealth's Attorney to prosecute the suit, and in that case the government may employ counsel to assist him. In view of a preliminary investigation of the question involved in the proposed litigation, which, under a sense of duty I have made, I deem it proper to say that I take your letter as a notification that you propose that the cause shall be prosecuted by the Commonwealth's Attorney and counsel employed by you. This will be satisfactory to me, and in view of the large accumulation of work upon this office, the lifting of this responsibility from me is specially agreeable, in that it will be placed in such competent hands as those of the able and accomplished Commonwealth's Attorney of the Thirteenth circuit. I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
W. J. HENDRICK, Attorney General.

A LONG ISLAND MYSTERY.

A Skeleton Declared to Be That of an Indian, but There Are Some Who Doubt It.

Justice Cooper and a jury, in the absence of Coroner Moore, held an inquest at Babylon, N. Y., the other day over the skeleton which was unearthed on the property of John S. Foster yesterday by some men engaged in digging post holes. A number of old residents of the village were sworn, but were unable to throw any light on the subject or identify the remains. They all stated that they could not recollect the sudden disappearance of any man. The oldest witness, however, said that the ground where the skeleton was found had never been used as a graveyard.

Charles I. Bedell, a resident of that portion of the town and a farmer, owner of the property, stated that he had plowed the ground in question about eight years ago. From this it would seem that had the body been there then it would have been unearthed, as it was only 18 inches under ground. The jury returned a verdict stating that in its opinion the skeleton was that of an Indian who had come to his death from natural causes.

The village people generally believe that it was the skeleton of a murdered man whose body was brought ashore and buried.

Try, Try Again.

He attempted to caress her, But the lovely maiden, bless her, Would not let him kiss her, tho' he tried and tried in vain.

Yet when he gave up trying, She, half roughly, half sighing, Said, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

And it was then, forsooth, The much encouraged youth, Sought to take the proffered kisses—and his brain was in a whirl! But she quietly rebuked him, And his courage all "forsook" him, When she told him that she'd thank him if he'd "try some other girl."

IT HAS BEEN LIVELY.

A Contest Over the Colored School at Murphysville—Two Teachers Claiming It.

There has been a lively contest over the colored common school at Murphysville ever since the commencement of the fall term a month or two ago, and the end is not yet.

Two teachers appeared on the scene at the beginning of the session and claimed the school. One is J. W. H. Powell and the other Miss C. Caldwell.

Powell insisted that the trustees had employed him to teach the school, and Miss Caldwell maintained they had employed her. Neither would give way to the other, and "the fight soon waxed fast and furious."

The trustees were not exactly in a position to settle the matter, and the case was finally referred to County Superintendent Blatterman. Mr. Blatterman decided in favor of Mrs. Caldwell.

Powell then appealed from the County Superintendent's decision and took the case before the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. That official ruled in favor of Powell, and directed that he be placed in charge of the school.

County Superintendent Blatterman thereupon issued instructions to the trustees to comply with the ruling of the State Superintendent, but for some reason the trustees failed or refused to obey the order.

Last County Court day they happened to be in Maysville and Powell had them arrested for failure to discharge their duties as trustees. They were held over to answer this charge.

They then preferred charges against Powell and asked that his certificate be revoked. They accused him, among other things, of incompetency and of immorality.

These charges were heard last Saturday. The trial lasted from early in the morning until late in the evening. Four speeches were made. County Superintendent Blatterman announced his decision Monday, revoking Powell's certificate.

Powell has again appealed to the State authorities, or will do so. At the present stage of the game he's a big loser,—out of the school and certificate gone. The result of the appeal will be anxiously awaited—by Powell.

Of Interest to Grocers.

The following is a new law of which a great many people are ignorant. Grocery men and vinegar dealers would do well to read and observe its provisions. It was passed by the last Legislature and is now in full force and effect:

"All barrels, kegs or packages, in which vinegar is placed and offered for sale in this Commonwealth, shall be so labeled, branded or marked, so as to describe the process manufacture of the contents, and shall, on said label, brand or mark on the outside of said barrel, keg or package, state from what material the vinegar in said barrel, keg or package is made; whether from fruit by natural fermentation, or from malt, grain or acid. Any person selling or offering for sale, in this Commonwealth, any vinegar not so marked and described, or if the vinegar sold or offered for sale does not correspond, and is not as represented by the label, mark or brand on the barrel, keg or package, shall be fined not less than twenty-five or more than one hundred dollars.

FIENDISH WORK.

Shocking Treatment of a Young Man Near Murphysville.

Four young miscreants, two of them white and two black, we are informed, made a savage attack upon a young white man near Murphysville one day this week and used him in a shocking manner.

They twisted his ears almost off his head, stuck a knife in him in several places and mistreated him other ways.

There was no provocation at all for the attack. It was a piece of pure deviltry. Fortunately for the young man two boys were attracted by his outcries and came to his help in time to save him.

One or two of the young fiends, we hear, have been arrested. They should be given the limit of the law.

NO DEMOLITION.

The World's Fair Buildings Will Be Allowed to Stand For Several Years.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—There will be no pulling down of world's fair buildings this year nor next, nor probably not for some years to come. The South park commissioners have agreed to take them off the hands of the exposition company, and allow them to stand, the latter to surrender them clear and clean to the commissioners; be released from their liabilities, and pay over to the commissioners a sum sufficient to maintain them for as long a time as possible.

This action on the part of the South park board will open up a way for the organization of a local company to conduct an exposition in the buildings for two or three years, at the least. Such a movement is being talked about, and may be put into execution. The first steps toward the formation of a new exposition company are expected to be taken in a few days.

The exposition company has agreed to present a schedule of the property owned by it at Jackson park to the South park commissioners, and when the sum to be paid over to the latter is agreed upon the exposition company will be entirely free of the fair, and will walk out of Jackson park leaving everything just as it stands to the park board.

FIRE IN A TENEMENT HOUSE.

Two Women, Two Children and a Man Injured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Fire from an unknown cause broke out at 1:45 this morning in the 5-story brick tenement, 802 Ninth avenue. Two women, two children and a man were injured. The house contained many tenants and when the alarm of fire was raised, there was a scene of wild excitement. Mrs. McCabe, who lives on the upper floor, first discovered the fire and shrieked out, "Fire!" "Fire!"

She aroused her neighbors by knocking at their doors. The injured were removed in ambulances to their homes. The fire was soon under control. The loss is $15,000.

All the parties are colored. The first three named confessed to having done the lynching, but now they say they did not tell the truth.

MURDERED BY ROBBERS.

An Old Farmer Shot and Died a Few Hours Afterward.

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 24.—Robert Ewing, 70 years old, a wealthy farmer, seven miles northwest of there, was murdered last night by robbers. For six weeks a gang of five masked men have committed a series of most dastardly burglaries in that vicinity. The objects of the attack in every case has been wealthy old farmers, who live in isolated homes. Each time entrance has been effected by battering down the doors with a fence post or heavy log. At one place where the old farmer refused to tell where his money was secreted, they placed a rope around his neck time and again, nearly cutting off his head in order to make him give up his wealth.

Last night the gang made its appearance at the home of Ewing. He was aroused from sleep by hearing a terrible thump on the kitchen door. He surmised at once that he had received a visit from the gang, and on springing to the floor out of bed he picked up his shotgun, which he had standing at the head of his bed. He opened the door from the bedroom to the sitting room, and then opened the door to the kitchen, and, on looking toward the outer door of the kitchen, saw a man about to enter. He raised the shotgun, and, taking deliberate aim, fired. The entire load from the shotgun lodged in the plastering at the side of the door.

After Ewing shot he turned, and as he was closing the door a bullet from a revolver fired by one of the robbers carried off the end of his left thumb. Before he closed the door another shot struck him under the left shoulder. This shot caused him to stagger and fall to the floor, but the plucky old man arose to his feet and rushed into the bedroom, secured his revolver and rushed out to the kitchen door, which by this time had been battered down by the robbers. The old man shot among them, and they sent back three bullets, none of which struck him, and then they turned and ran. Mr. Ewing counting five of them. Shortly after Mr. Ewing died of the shot received under the shoulder.

Very Fine Handiwork.

Dr. Heylin, in his "Life of King Charles," records that during the reign of Queen Elizabeth "there was one who wrote the Ten Commandments, the creed, the pater noster, the queen's name, and the prayer of our Lord within the compass of a penny and gave her majesty a pair of spectacles of such an artificial making that by the help thereof she did plainly and distinctly discern every letter."

A somewhat similar feat was that "rare piece of work brought to pass by Peter Bales, an Englishman, who also exhibited before her majesty the entire Bible written in a book, containing as many leaves as a full sized edition, but fitting into a walnut."—Boston Commonwealth.
